

I pay for a service (satellite radio) that provides me with the diversity of programming and specialized information that I require and cannot find on terrestrial radio. In my opinion, satellite radio - as a subscription based service, should be allowed to provide whatever services it can to its subscribers to allow it to be a viable alternative to AM/FM.